West Porlock is one of the three hamlets which form the parish in which is the market town and seaport of Porlock. It is a charming spot where this wee little village is situated, its thatched cottages with their red brick chimneys and old-fashioned casemented windows nestling among trees, and overlooking the broad expanse of the Bristol Channel.

Dear Gordon.
Hope you will forgive
the delay in answering
your P.C. which I was pleased to receive.
How are you doing?
Quite tired, to the new life I suppose. Working for the best of Luck. Yours A. C. C.
